Eligibility for graduation in humanities and social science courses (HSSCs), other than language courses.

General rules for all Tokyo Tech students

13 credits

- 2 credits in 100-level required courses (=Visionary Project)
- 3 credits in 100-level restricted elective courses (1 credit each from humanities, social sciences, and transdisciplinary studies)
- 4 credits in 200-level restricted elective courses
- 2 credits in 300-level required courses (=Liberal Arts Final Report)
- 2 credits in 300-level restricted elective courses

Amended rules for GSEP students

13 credits

- 2 credits in 100-level required courses (=Visionary Project) ← No worry.
- 3 credits in 100-level restricted elective courses (1 credit each from humanities, social sciences, and transdisciplinary studies)
← This condition may be satisfied by taking any LAH. courses at 200s or 300s. Three categories of studies (humanities, social sciences, and transdisciplinary) are not applicable to GSEP students. Note that once you adapt any LAH 200s or 300s course for this condition, those adapted LAH 200s AND 300s are not allowed to be assumed as 200s or 300s anymore. Simply put, double-counting is not allowed.
- 4 credits in 200-level restricted elective courses
- 2 credits in 300-level required courses (=Liberal Arts Final Report) ← No worry.
- 2 credits in 300-level restricted elective courses

The following arrangements are also allowed.

Maximum 3 credits from the four LAJ courses below could be substituted for restricted elective LAH 100s or 200s course.

- LAJ.C101 Japanese Culture : Society (1 credit) : 日本文化演習 : 社会 (1 単位)
- LAJ.C102 Japanese Culture : adaptation (1 credit) : 日本文化演習 : 適応 (1 単位) → This course is not offered in 2019.
- LAJ.C103 Japanese Culture : Arts (1 credit) : 日本文化演習 : 芸術 (1 単位)
- LAJ.C201 Japanese Culture: Japanology (1 credit) 日本文化演習 : 日本学 (1 単位)

Any credits by passing the following two LAX courses, "Introduction to Sociology of Multiculturalism" or "Introduction to Technology and Engagement" could satisfy the condition to fill out restricted elective LAH 100s requirement.

- LAW.X114 Introduction to Sociology of Multiculturalism (2 credits) by Prof. Kitamura or Prof. Saeki
- LAW.X115 Introduction to Society and Technology (1 credit) —→ This course has not been offered from 2018 and may not be offered in the future.
